

Precious Ramotswe is Botswana's leading, and only female private detective. She has only just set up shop when she is hired to track down a missing husband, uncover a conman and track down a wayward daughter. The case that really tugs at her heart, and lands her in danger is that of a missing eleven year old boy who is feared to have been snatched by witch doctors.

The country Botswana is named after its dominant ethnic group the Tswana. Before its independence in 1966, Botswana was a British protectorate and was one of the poorest and least developed nations in the world. Since gaining independence it has become known as a peaceful and increasingly prosperous democratic nation. It is 600 miles long and 600 miles wide. Within its borders there is a rich variety of plant and animal life. It is home to the Central Kalahari Game Reserve where you will find lions, elephants, zebras, emus, desert foxes and much more.
